Response to Arguments

1. Claims 5-11 are pending and under consideration.

Claim Rejections Maintained

2. The rejection of claims 1, 7-9 and 11 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mehta et al (Proceedings of the American Association for Cancer Research, 1997, Vol. 38, p. 88) in view of Flavell et al (Cancer Research, 1997, Vol. 57, pp. 4824-4829) is maintained for reasons of record. Applicant argues that the method of Flavell et al comprising the administration of the anti-CD38-saporin as the sole immunotoxin was relatively ineffective and only when animal were treated with a triple combination of immunotoxins including the anti-CD38-saporin was survival enhanced. Applicant further argues that the targeting of multiple cellular markers enables the immunotoxins to reach the cells which fail to express one or more of the target molecules. This has been considered but not found persuasive. Mehta overcomes the deficiencies of Flavell by teaching the upregulation of the CD38 receptor on cells which fail to express a high density of CD38 receptor by the administration of retinoids, thus allowing for the effective use of anti-CD38-saporin as a single immunotoxin.

3. Claims 1, 5-9 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mehta et al, 1997 and Flavell et al as applied to claims 1, 7-9 and 11 above, and further in view of Mehta et al (Proceeding of the American society for Cancer Research, 1994, Vol. 35, p. 92). Applicant argues that the rejection over Mehta et al (Proceedings of the American Association for Cancer Research, 1997, Vol. 38, p. 88) in view of Flavell et al (Cancer Research, 1997, Vol. 57, pp. 4824-4829) as applied to claims 1, 7-9 and 11 was in error, therefore, the further rejection of claims 5 and 6 in view of Mehta et al (Proceeding of the American society for Cancer Research, 1994, Vol. 35, p. 92) should be withdrawn. This is not found persuasive for the reasons stated supra.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
